Fundamentals of Clinical Genetics was initiated in 2008 at the request of the Clinical Genetics Society and the Specialist Advisory Committee in Clinical Genetics of the Royal College of Physicians, London. Its aim is to meet the need for clinicians practicing in the specialty to understand the fundamental aspects of human genetics which underpin clinical practice, and to keep abreast of the latest scientific, technological and bioinformatics developments in this very fast-moving area.

Included this year is a new session on the Specialty exam which will be of particular interest to trainees and all those involved in training. The course is supported by a very strong faculty drawn from UK Clinical Genetics, the Wellcome Trust Sanger Institute and the Institute of Cancer Research.
